Foundations of Technology for March 30 through April 3, 2020

Your assignment for this week is from the website <https://www.consumer.ftc.gov/features/feature-0026-living-life-online> from which you will be reading and looking for information about how to be safe when you are online.

Read the articles from the first pages that are titled Share with Care When it comes to what you share online, how much is too much? Interact with Tact Remember that writing something online is no different from saying it aloud. It's important to mind your manners. The Protection Connection Use these tips to protect yourself, your computer, your phone, and your information while you're online.

Once you have read these articles, write me a paragraph summarizing the important things you have learned from each section. When you are finished with the paragraph, email it to me with your name and the title clearly stated on the form so I know whose is whose.

Personal Finance Class for March 30-April 3, 2020

You will be using information from the website we have used for some activities in class called Next Generation Personal Finance. The links will be attached here. You will do two short worksheets relating to credit card costs and fees and return those to me at my email address above. Again, be sure your name appears on them. You will also have an activity you should do. This will be something that most have enjoyed in other classes. You will be acting as a loan shark trying to gain as much money for your employer as you can. You do not have to report on this, but have fun and see how much money people can lose when using this kind of credit. Worksheet 1 and worksheet 2 and the activity is ShadySam.
